Bringing Harlem Sport to Chester

Harlem Globetrotter Seth Franco demonstrates balancing a spinning ball on his fingertip to Lamar West at Ecoff Elementary.

BY L. FAUSZ ■ Chester resident Seth Franco, 25, is known as #16 "Hot 'N Fresh" on the Harlem Globetrotters team. As a first season guard, he is known for his ball handling. The school body at Ecoff Elementary School, last week, had the pleasure of seeing his ball handling talent, but for Franco, it was more important to hear his message. After more than 60 years he is the second Causcian to suit up with the team. Bob Karstens was the first in 1942. Carrying the legacy of Meadowlark Lemon and Wilt "the Stilt" Chamberlain he proved to his student assistants at Ecoff that they could do stunts like him if they put their mind to it.

He proved to Lamar West, who carried his basketball to school with him each day during the week that Franco was to arrive, and Alex Glackin, that they could balance a
